Complete missions

To earn points, choose a mission from the game list and follow the instructions. Mission types include photos, videos, checking-in at specific locations, or answering questions and riddles. Each Mission can only be completed once. Depending on participation, there may be 'double point days' to increase submissions!

Organizers can review submissions and reward bonus points for extra impressive ones! So get creative!

See the action... live!

Use the live activity feed to scope out the competition. You can pull inspiration from what others are doing, or give big thumbs up to the submissions you think are awesome. Every team will be able to see what other teams are submitting.

A real-time leaderboard means that at any given moment, you know exactly how you're doing and what needs to be done to win. 😊

Save the memories

When time runs out, the game may be done, but the fun is definitely not over! The organizers will announce the final scores after they review all submissions to make sure nobody took any shortcuts.

As an added bonus, the organizer can download all of the fun content generated from the game, to create a highlights reel or share them with you and the other competitors! 📷

**We will not use any of the submissions without permission from the team/individual****

Connecticut Envirothon found out about this Goosechase platform through the National Envirothon program who used it during their National Summer Competition this year. Fun fact: the Connecticut team actually won the scavenger hunt (shoutout to Marvelwood School!). An important thing to note is that a smartphone/ipad is needed to download the app and participate - since it is in a team format students can work together.

This is not a required activity but we do encourage teams to try it out and participate if they are able to. The missions are sculpted around station objectives and provide relevant learning opportunities for participating teams! It should be fun! Advisors are also welcome to join their team on the app to see what their team and other teams are submitting! CT Envirothon will be monitoring the submissions.
